STATE FUNDING BOND ISSUE LEGAL

Oklahoma City, Ok., Nov. 24.—The state bond issue, amounting to nearly $3,000,000, authorized by the State Funding Board to take up outstanding state warrants, was upheld in an opinion delivered by the supreme court today. R. A. Campbell of Oklahoma City, special judge, wrote the opinion. Owing to the disqualification of Justices Hayes, Kane and Williams, Supreme Court Commissioners Brewer and Robertson and Attorney Campbell were named to sit for this case. Justice Robertson dissented from today's findings.

The big bond issue was first brought into question in the Oklahoma County district court through a protest filed by R. J. Edwards, a citizen taxpayer and from the court's action sustaining the state's demurrer an appeal was taken. Justice Brewer delivered an opinion last November, sustaining the board's authority to float the bonds but remanded the case to the district court for additional hearing. The issues were again sustained by the district court and the case appealed, the bond issue now being approved for the second time.

BRIANS WATCHING OIL SITUATION

R. E. Brians came in from Allen Saturday afternoon with a quart bottle of oil from the well. He stated that gas pressure had forced the oil out of the mouth of the well, and although a plug and tow sack had been inserted, the oil was oozing out and it was from this stream he caught his sample. It is thought that the tanks will be put in place today.

Mr. Brians has several good leases for which he has been offered fancy prices, but he is holding on. He will spend a good part of his time over there now and have an office in the First State Bank.

MURRAY HAS NEW PLAN

WOULD CHOOSE PRESIDENTIAL ELECTORS BY CONGRESSIONAL DISTRICTS.

Washington, D. C., Nov. 24.—Hon. Wm. H. Murray, member of Congress from Oklahoma, president of the Oklahoma Constitutional convention, has introduced today an amendment to Paragraph 2, Section 1, of Article 2, of the Constitution of the United States to change the method of electing presidential electors by states to electing them by congressional districts. His proposed amendment is as follows:

"There shall be chosen from each state a number of electors, equal to the whole number of representatives to which the state may be entitled in the congress: Provided, such electors shall be elected by the qualified voters within representative districts, and each representative district shall be entitled to a number of electors equal to the number of representa-

Five chosen from and within such district to the congress."

The purpose of this amendment, as explained by Mr. Murray, is to break down state-machine control in presidential elections and force the election nearer the people, and by congressional districts rather than by states. In commenting upon this he says:

"The primary effect of this amendment is to remove 'pivotal states' or the necessity of nominating a man from a given state in order to carry the state and win his election. Article II of the Constitution now provides: 'Each state shall appoint, in such manner as the legislature thereof may direct, a number of electors equal to the whole number of senators and representatives to which the state may be entitled in the congress.' Under this provision any state may elect the presidential electors by the people, or by the legislature, or they may be appointed by the governor. All these methods have been used in the past. South Carolina was the last to change and go to election of the electors by a vote of the people and that as late as 1868.

The purpose of the Electoral College by the makers of the constitution was a sound one in this: It was the only means by which the power to determine the qualification of voters could be left with the several states. It will readily be observed that under the Electoral College a state may, or may not, as it chooses, have Woman Suffrage, property, and educational, or any other qualification for voters, and the result will be the same; because electors are based upon population (plus two for the senators) rather than upon the votes. The wisdom of leaving with the states the power over suffrage and the elections, is better shown now than when the constitution was written, since suffrage must depend upon the character and intelligence of the people. I have no desire to cripple the system of the electoral college, but along with its merits has grown up evils. We nominate men for president because of their ability to carry a certain state, whose popularity is that state may be determined by local issues or his control over the state organization or machine. Hence such evil is not calculated to insure the best men for president. To choose men because of their location is never safe itself.

My proposed amendment strikes out two electors from each state (for the senators) and gives a number equal to the number of congressmen, who are proportioned among the states according to the population, and provides that they shall be elected in the several Congressional districts, so that in the event of its ratification the party battle will not be made by states but by congressional districts. And should a state, like New York, with forty-five presidential electors, go by one vote majority for a particular candidate it would be equivalent to the unanimous vote as the forty-five electoral votes would be cast as a unit and the Unit Rule is itself unwholesome. But under my amendment if New York went for the democratic ticket in say eighteen districts and for the republican ticket in seven and for the progressive ticket in eight congressional districts, these respective numbers would be cast in the electoral college for the three respective party candidates and not the entire forty-five for one as now. Thus the evil of pivotal states would be removed. It would also have the good effect of bringing the contest nearer to the people, removing the control of national policies from the political machine or organization of particular states and make it just as expedient for the nomination of a candidate for president from one state as another, and yet the state's control over suffrage and the qualification of the voter would be maintained as was wisely provided in the constitution. Moreover candidates would then be nominated because of his nation-wide popularity, from which we could expect of his administration nation-wide policies, rather than state machine or sectional controlled.

This is as nearly as the election of a president as can be brought to the people under our federal form of nationality.

THE DEADLY TYPEWRITER.

General Pancho Villa is a warrior bold. He seized his typewriter Saturday, dynamited two trainloads of Huerta soldiers and killed hundreds of officers and men in the twinkling of an eye. It is said that there are less than 100,000 men involved in the troubles in Mexico. According to statisticians, war correspondents and typewriter generals have slain a million Mexicans since Diaz the elder was driven from Mexico. Since the invention of the typewriter war has been hell in Mexico, Central America and some of the South American republics. Really the time has come when the typewriter is more deadly than the sword.—Fort Worth Record.

Although newspapers are often accused of lying, an investigation will prove that as a rule they are very careful about giving out facts. Very often when some keen nosed reporter has ferreted out something of unusual interest, he is given the lie, although he has full knowledge of what he is talking about. A case in point occurred a few days ago. The Muskogee Phoenix was the first paper in which we noticed a report that President Connell and some of his associates were to be fired and it also gave the reasons for the proposed action of the board. That early report did not suit some members of the board and a denial was sent out to the effect that no such action was contemplated. However, the ink was hardly dry on the papers carrying this statement before the action against the men was actually taken. This is just one instance of the kind. As a rule the press is more to be depended on than its detractors.

Congressman Murray's proposal to choose presidential electors by congressional districts is all right as far as it goes, but why not go the whole hog and do away with the electoral system altogether? Why not elect president and vice president by popular vote? In that way the people as a whole would do the electing and state lines would cut no ice. No matter which way the bosses might throw a state, its vote could be nullified by another state where the voters were free. If this system had prevailed in 1876 Tilden's election would have been too overwhelming to contest, for he beat Hayes by 250,000 votes. Again in 1888 Cleveland beat Harrison by 100,000, although far behind in the electoral vote. It was the intention of the framers of the constitution that the electors should be chosen for their high and judicial qualifications and should vote for the men qualified for the places, and not on account of political reasons. They did not foresee the formation of political parties. The electoral system has outlived its day and should be relegated to the scrap heap.

STONEWALL MAN GOES IN FOR OIL

W. E. McGowan, editor of the Stone wall News, has been elected general manager of the Arkansas River Bed Oil and Gas Co., which is capitalized at $250,000. The company has leased three miles of the river bed from C. N. Haskell and associates, and its holdings abuts those of the Gypsy company, which has fifty wells and is putting down nine more. Mr. McGowan's company already has one well producing $50 barrels and will lose no time in sinking others. He will take charge about December 1. The company is made up of such men as J. J. McAlester and Senator Redwine, men who are very conservative in the business matters.

DAVIDSON-CARTER

Mr. Tom Davidson and Miss Myrtle Carter were married Nov. 20, Judge H. J. Brown officiating. However, it was such a quiet home affair that the News reporter failed to hear of it until Saturday evening. It now hastens to extend congratulations and best wishes.

The bride is a young lady of excellent attainments and has a host of friends to wish her well. The groom has lived here for the past eight or nine years, and has always enjoyed the esteem and popularity with a host of Ada people.

A PISTOL OF SPANISH TIMES

This afternoon F. C. Krieger brought to the News office an old relic that probably dates back to the days of the Spaniards. It is an old flint lock pistol which he plowed up a year ago at a depth of two feet while building a levee on Springbrook.

The old weapon is eighteen inches in length, has a barrel a foot long and fired a ball of large caliber. As such guns have not been used for seventy-five years, there is no doubt about this being very old.

This evening the De Sota will present the Reliance drama, "The Real Mother," the drama, "Vengeance" and the Mutual weekly. Among the interesting features of this production will be the daring French aviator turning a somersault in his aeroplane, the feat that astonished the world a short time ago.

H. A. Kroeger, one of the pioneers of Francis, was down from Oklahoma City Saturday. Mr. Kroeger is now doing some work in the oil line and has his eye on the Allen situation.

Judge Williams for Governor.

Judge R. L. Williams as the next governor of Oklahoma—the topic seems to have taken root in all parts of the state. So extensive is the comment, both by the people and by the press, that the subject deserves space on the front page of a newspaper, rather than being restricted to the editorial column.

In many sections it is already regarded a foregone conclusion that Bob Williams will be the nominee. Such an early and spontaneous outburst of support—before anybody has made a formal announcement of his candidacy—is a bit unusual. Still, Judge Williams has frankly admitted that he would gladly serve the people as their governor; and why shouldn't folks pick him out kind of by acclamation now, if they want to? Who's business is it, but theirs? Anyhow, the Judge will be in the spotlight for many months, subject to the people's scrutiny, so that before he is really elected there will be ample opportunity to weigh his qualifications.

This spontaneous outburst of support alluded to above—there must be something in the make-up of Bob Williams to elicit it.—Shawnee News-Herald.

W. E. Gill has resigned the presidency of the Tablequah normal to make the race for state superintendent. It now looks as if that office will be hotly contested for. Supt. Wilson is likely to be a candidate for re-election. E. D. Cameron has stated that he would run. Prof. Hinsahw, an old timer of the southeastern part of the state is said to be preparing to throw his hat in the ring, and Scott Glenn of Shawnee and C. W. Richards of Ardmore are frequently mentioned. Of the above named Richards is beyond doubt the best qualified for the office.

The rain was too much for Rev. M. A. Cassidy on his hunt below Durant and he had to come back home before he had intended to. However, he says he is going back in a few days and finish his trip.

READY FOR WHITE HOUSE WEDDING

Washington, D. C., Nov. 24.—Before an improvised altar in the historic East Room of the White House, on the same spot where Miss Nellie Grant and Algernon Sarteris took the vows forty years ago and where Miss Alice Roosevelt and Nicholas Longworth plighted their troth in 1906, the Rev. Sylvester W. Beach, pastor of the Presbyterian church in Princeton, N. J., will tomorrow afternoon pronounce the words which will unite in marriage Miss Jessie Woodrow Wilson, second daughter of the president of the United States, and Mr. Francis Bowes Sayre, son of the late Robert H. Sayre, the builder of the Lehigh Valley Railroad.

The ceremony which is set for 4:30 P. M.—will be witnessed by one of the most brilliant and distinguished assemblages ever gathered in the executive mansion. It was the early desire not only of Miss Wilson, who was most concerned, but of the President and Mrs. Wilson, that the wedding should be celebrated in a manner comparatively quiet, that it should be a family affair. This, it shortly was disclosed, could not be gratified.

Only about 400 guests, mostly relatives and intimate friends, will witness the ceremony, but nearly three times that number have been invited to attend the reception that will follow. Among those in attendance will be the Vice-President and Mrs. Marshall, the foreign diplomats and their families, the cabinet members and their families, the supreme court justices and their families, and numerous members of Congress and high officers of the army and navy and their families. The relatives of the two families alone number several scores. The most of these, together with the members of the wedding party, are already guests at the White House.

The floral decorations will be more elaborate than any heretofore have been in President Wilson's administration. While the decorations in all the rooms on the main floor of the White House will be beautiful, they will be less elaborate than those in the East Room, which will be beautified with thousands of chrysanthemums grown in the White House conservatories.

The state dining-room will be thrown open to the guests after the ceremony. The great, high walls and ceiling, paneled in walnut, will form a handsome setting for the splendidly decorated table on which, amid a shimmer of silver and cut glass, will appear the wedding cake, two and one-half feet in height and weighing nearly 150 pounds. It is said that the cake is to be cut into 1,000 pieces and each placed in a dainty white box bearing the United States seal. The pieces will be given out only to the guests, but sent to many folks far away who are unable to come to Washington for the ceremony.

The music for the occasion will be furnished by the Marine Band and Orchestra which will be stationed behind a floral screen in the corridor. A special programme has been prepared for the wedding. The music has been selected for the most part by Miss Wilson herself.

The marriage ceremony will be marked by the great simplicity possible under the circumstances. When everything is in readiness Mr. Sayre, accompanied by his best man, Sir Wilfred T. Grenfell, will descend the main staircase and entering the East Room, take place before the temporary altar to await the arrival of the bride.

Immediately the clock sounds the half-hour after four, Miss Wilson, escorted by the president, will descend to the west end of the main corridor. There, awaiting them, will be the ushers selected by Mr. Sayre. They are Dr. Scoville Clark of Salem, Mass., Benjamin B. Burton of New York City, Dr. Gilbert Horace of Montclair, N. J., and Charles E. Hughes, Jr., of Washington, D. C.

Preceded by the ushers, the President with the bride will proceed to the East Room. The bride will be attended by her sister, Miss Margaret Wilson, as maid of honor. The bridesmaids will be Miss Eleanor Wilson, younger sister of the bride; Miss Adeline Mitchell Scott, daughter of Professor William B. Scott of Princeton; Miss Mary G. White of Baltimore, who was a classmate of the bride at Coucher College, and Miss Marjorie Brown, a daughter of Mrs. Wilson's cousin, Col. E. T. Brown of Atlanta.

Miss Wilson's bridal dress will be a magnificent creation of heavy cream satin, rare old lace and filmy tulle. The material from which the gown was made was manufactured especially for her. The style of the gown is simple, being draped along princess lines and trimmed with lace which is said to have been in Mrs. Wilson's family for several generations. The veil, of French tulle, will be arranged

Book Adoptions in January.

Oklahoma City, Ok., Nov. 24.—The state board of education today voted unanimously to begin on Jan. 14 the adoption of textbooks for the five-year period beginning Aug. 1, 1914. Hester, Potter and Duncan were named as a committee to draft rules under which the adoption will be made, a salient feature of which is to be, according to the announcement, that members of the board are to see no representative of any book company prior to the date the adoption begins, and then only in the presence of the board. Representatives of publishing houses will be given hearings. The rules are to be resented to the board at its next meeting, Dec. 12.

Members of the board said tonight they believed there was no legal impediment to their making a new adoption. Since the first five year adoption expired last August and the new adoption by the old educational board was set aside by resolution of the present board, the schools have been using books of their own selections.

According to an English astronomer in South Africa, there are 300 stars 100 times as large as the sun, 5,000 ten times as large, and about 200,000 of nearly the same size.

MOTHER TELLS

How Her Little Girl Was Restored to Health.

Mrs. Chas. Schriever of 139 Himrod St., Brooklyn, N. Y., says: "My little girl was frail, sickly and all run down after having had the grippe. I was advised to give her Vinol and after the first bottle noticed an improvement. She has taken four bottles and has picked up rapidly, having gained six pounds in three weeks."

The reason Vinol builds up weak, ailing children so quickly is because it contains in a delicious combination the two most world-famed tonics—i. e., the strength creating, body building elements of cod liver oil, with all the useless grease eliminated, and tonic iron for the blood added. If you have a weak, puny, ailing child, try Vinol on our offer to return your money if it fails to benefit your little one.—Gwin & Mays Co., Druggists, Ada, Okla.

FIVE AND TEN CENTS

MORE WELLS FOR ALLEN

DRILLING TO BEGIN AT ONCE ON FOUR OR FIVE MORE OIL WELLS.

A phone message from Allen this afternoon was to the effect that beyond the fact that oil is running over the top of the well there is no late development in the situation. The tanks have not yet been placed and until they are there will be no more drilling.

Excitement is still keen and drilling will begin on four or five more wells within the next thirty days. That many are assured, forfeits having been posted in most cases, and the probabilities that several other rigs will be on the ground by that time and a thorough test made of the field.

The town is still crowded with prospectors and leases are commanding fancy prices.

NOTICE.

Owing to the fact that the Baptist church is so much more conveniently arranged for the wedding ceremony, it has been decided to have the wedding of Mr. Paul Alderson and Miss Alpha Sledge take place there, instead of the Methodist church as first announced.

IF KIDNEYS AND BLADDER BOTHER

Take Salts to flush kidneys and neutralize irritating acids.

Kidney and Bladder weakness result from uric acid, says a noted authority. The kidneys filter this acid from the blood and pass it on to the bladder, where it often remains to irritate and inflame, causing a burning, scalding sensation, or setting up an irritation at the neck of the bladder, obliging you to seek relief two or three times during the night. The sufferer is in constant dread, the water passes sometimes with a scalding sensation and is very profuse; again, there is difficulty in avoiding it.

Bladder weakness, most folks call it, because they can't control urination. While it is extremely annoying and sometimes very painful, this is really one of the most simple ailments to overcome. Get about four ounces of Jad Salts from your pharmacist and take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast, continue this for two or three days. This will neutralize the acids in the urine so it no longer is a source of irritation to the bladder and urinary organs which then act normally again.

Jad Salts is inexpensive, harmless, and is made from the acid of grapes and is used by thousands of folks who are subject to urinary disorders caused by uric acid irritation. Jad Salts is splendid for kidneys and causes no bad effects whatever.

Here you have a pleasant, effervescent lithia-water drink, which quickly relieves bladder trouble. (Adv.)

How to Avoid Those Pains and Distress Which so Many Mothers Have Suffered.

It is a pity more women do not know of Mother's Friend. Here is a remedy that softens the muscles, enables them to expand without any strain upon the ligaments and enables women to go through maternity without pain, nausea, morning sickness or any of the dreaded symptoms so familiar to many mothers. There is no foolish diet to harass the mind. The thoughts do not dwell upon pain and suffering, for all such are avoided. Thousands of women no longer resign themselves to the thought that sickness and distress are natural. They know better, for in Mother's Friend they have found a wonderful, penetrating remedy to banish all those dreaded experiences. It is a subject every woman should be familiar with, and even though she may not require such a remedy, she will now and then meet some prospective mother to whom a word in time about Mother's Friend will come as a wonderful blessing. This famous remedy is sold by all druggists, and is only $1.00 a bottle. It is for external use only, and is really worth its weight in gold. Write to-day to the Bradford Regulator Co., 127 Lamar Bldg., Atlanta, Ga., for a most valuable book.

WEATHER FORECAST

Washington, Nov. 23.—Several days of moderate weather with sunshine are in prospect for most of the country east of the Rocky Mountains, according to the Weather Bureau weekly forecast issued tonight.

"Rains are indicated Monday in the Southern States," says the forecast, "but with this exception generally fair weather will prevail for several days east of the Rocky Mountains and probably well toward the end of the week over the eastern portion of the country, also the Southwest. Temperatures will be moderate over the west central portions and will fall to more normal conditions toward the eastward, with a decided fall over the northeastern districts.

"Present pressure distribution indicates the approach of another disturbance to the far Northwest, bringing with it rains over the North Pacific states early in the week and probably snows and rains over the extreme Northwest a day or so later. The middle of the week these unsettled conditions will drift eastward, probably reaching through the end of the week. The northeastern disturbance will be followed by rising pressure and falling temperature beginning Tuesday or Wednesday over the extreme Northwest, and extending eastward to the North Atlantic states by the end of the week.

"There are no present indications of any very low temperatures.

"Over the middle and southern districts west of the Rocky Mountains generally fair weather will prevail with somewhat higher temperatures early in the week."

BOOSTER EDITION READY TO MAIL

The big booster edition of the News is now complete and will be mailed out Friday with the regular daily and weekly editions. As stated before these papers will sell at 10c each, or $1.00 per dozen. As a special favor to our subscribers, we will wrap and mail copies for $1.25 per dozen, provided, such orders come in before Wednesday noon when the regular edition is mailed out. After that every one must pay postage for himself.

The News would like to make still more liberal terms to its subscribers, but the heavy expense of getting out the issue will force us to be very close otherwise we shall not be able to break even. It was the purpose of the management to get out an edition of which all Pontotoc county could be proud and no expense has been spared to make it such. Its pages are illustrated with 157 half-tones and the best grade of paper and ink used. This is a fine opportunity to present all the advantages of this section to friends in other states who might become citizens and at a very low price to all.

BIG BATTLE IN PROSPECT

FEDERALS AND REVOLUTIONISTS MAY CLASH NEAR JUAREZ.

El Paso, Tex., Nov. 23.—Gen. Pancho Villa with his bodyguard of fifty men left Juarez tonight in command of a train of supplies for the main body of his soldiers, bivouaced between Mesa and Samaluca.

Before starting out tonight, Gen. Villa stated that with the rise of the sun in the morning he would have his men arrayed in battle formation, and that if the federals did not attack him by night he would take the aggressive and drive the advancing force back into Chihuahua.

A battle between the forces is expected Monday.

Gen. Villa returned to Juarez from the South at 11 o'clock this morning and reported that the federals last night fled from the constitutionalists below Terra Blanca, 22 miles south of Juarez.

He stated his battle line extended for four miles at a point below Terra Blanca and that the federals were in retreat.

A federal troop train came up in the night, but the federals when driven back, boarded their train again and left for the south.

Friday evening, near Samaluca, thirty-two miles south of Juarez, a scouting party of 100 men under Rodolfo L. Fierro, moved to attack a party of federals who had detained there. According to Fierro, who accompanied Villa to Juarez this morning, the Huerta troops had unloaded two cannon from the train, which was the leading one of eight carrying federal soldiers northward.

"They turned their cannon on us when we were several miles away," said Fierro. "We had no artillery, but kept moving toward them. My men were not mounted, but they did not hesitate a moment to go against the enemy, who outnumbered us greatly. Imagine our surprise when we got within a mile of the train to see the federals reload their artillery and back down the track. No member of my command was killed or wounded by the firing."

"I have placed my army in position about twelve miles south of Juarez," said Gen. Villa. "The extreme right wing rests at Bauche, on the Mexico Northwest Railroad, twelve miles from Juarez. The extreme left is at Mesa, thirteen miles from there, and on the Mexican Central Railway. The front extends for a distance of twelve miles between these two points."

"Between 5,000 and 6,000 men—cavalry, infantry and artillery—are camped along this line, which has been fortified with the cannon I took from the federals at Torreon and Juarez. The country in that section is hilly and admirably fitted for defense."

"The story that I am planning to evacuate is absolutely false," continued the constitutionalist commander. "When I do evacuate it will be only because federal bullets drive me out, and that is highly improbable. I have left my army twelve miles outside the city so that I can give protection to families living here and across the river."

"On the result of the battle that may be fought soon below here rests to a great extent the fate of the revolution in Chihuahua. If the Federals win they will have to fight us again, but if we win," and here Villa's eyes sparkled, "we will leave them in such shape that they will not be able to recuperate."

Villa declares reinforcements are coming to join his army from the east and the southwest, and that his ranks will be increased 2,000 or 3,000 men in a few days.

He says the federal troop trains were within eighteen miles of Juarez yesterday afternoon when they caught a view of his army coming out to meet them and retreated, how far south he does not know. If a battle is fought Villa means that it will be fought where his army is now located south of Juarez.

GERMANY THE WORLD'S GREATEST TOY MARKET

Germany is by far the largest source of supply for the toys imported into the United States and is, in fact, the world's largest manufacturer of this class of merchandise. The value of toys imported into the United States from Germany in the fiscal year 1913 was nearly 7 million dollars out of a total of approximately 8 million dollars worth imported from all countries, or about seven-eighths of the total. Of dolls alone the importations from Germany were $1,537,964 out of a total of $1,563,184. The other principal countries from which toys are imported are England, $286,846; Japan, $302,754; France, $165,092; Austria-Hungary, $185,303; and Belgium, $61,252.

Exports of toys from the United States amount to less than 1 million dollars per annum and have somewhat declined in recent years. Most of those exported, however, go to English-speaking countries, the $23,318 worth exported during the fiscal year 1913 going chiefly to England, Canada, Australia and New Zealand; the next largest exportations went to Germany, Cuba, the Philippine Islands, France and Japan.
